Biographical Note:

Leland Adair was born April 12, 1896, the oldest child of Nannie Layton and Henry Adair. He grew up in Shannon County and was educated in Eminence, Missouri. For his graduation from Eminence High School in 1914, he wrote “History of Eminence.” He then attended business college in Springfield, Missouri. He enlisted in the military in 1918, and served with clerical forces in Washington, D.C. during World War I. He returned to Missouri after the war, and in Kansas City he married and had two daughters, Virginia and Mary Lou. Besides being a veteran, he was also a teacher and businessman. He died on October 23, 1946.
