INTRODUCTION

The papers of the Flanery-Gillum-Lawson family, which include correspondence, family and cemetery photographs, and a copy of Paint Lick Reflections, a genealogical publication, Paint Lick, Kentucky, Summer, 2005.

DONOR INFORMATION

The papers were donated to the State Historical Society of Missouri by Susan L. Pentlin on 5 October 2010 (Accession No. 6272).

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

John T. Gillum came to Johnson County, Missouri, from Russellville, Kentucky, in 1853. The family had come to Kentucky from Albermarle County, Virginia. Susan Hurt Doolin Lawson lost her first husband, Thomas Doolin, a soldier in the First Kentucky Cavalry, to "friendly fire" during the Civil War. After the war, she remarried James Lawson, a former Union soldier in the 50th Illinois Infantry, and they came to Warrensburg, Missouri, with her son from the first marriage. She had five more children, including Amanda Lawson, who married Robert F. Gillum. Susan Lawson died in 1920.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE
