Introduction
Approximately 6 cubic feet

The Missouri Citizens United for Rehabilitation of Errants (CURE) Records consist of correspondence, newsletters, booklets, and flyers, documenting its efforts to ensure that prisons are reserved only for those individuals that must be incarcerated and that those individuals receive humane treatment. Materials of interest include correspondence written by Dr. John Mac Taylor (1961-2015), an inmate in the Missouri State prison system who wrote numerous books and articles on prisoner education, including the Prisoners’ Guerrilla Handbook to Correspondence Programs in the United States and Canada. Other materials of note include issues of Missouri CURE’s newsletter, Turning Point, featuring articles on Jamala Rogers, the former executive director of the Organization for Black Struggle, job placement programs for parolees, and capital punishment in Missouri.
