The Missouri Railroad Records primarily pertain to railroads that had, or have, tracks in Missouri or its contiguous states. The bulk of the collection dates from the 1890s through the 1950s and is largely annual reports from the various railroads. The second largest group of records is pamphlets. Most of the pamphlets are from railroads, many of them advertising the vacation destinations that the railroad went to, or land available in western states. There are also some records from related organizations, such as agricultural and tourism groups, which used railroads.
