Historical Note:

The Methodist Church came to Missouri in 1798 with the first Methodist preacher, John Clark. In 1805 Joseph Oglesby was appointed by Bishop Asbury to seek out prospects for Methodist work in Missouri. Two circuits were formed in 1806 and the Missouri Conference was organized in 1816. By 1826 Missouri was divided into fifteen circuits.

The issue of slavery helped to split the church at the General Conference of 1844 into the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Earlier, many blacks had left the church and formed the African Methodist Episcopal Church and the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church. Another split had led to the formation of the Methodist Protestant Church.

The split between the northern and southern branches of the church was not healed until 1939. At this time the Methodist Protestant Church also reunited with the other two. In 1968 the Methodist Church united with the Evangelical United Brethren to form the United Methodist Church.

The United Methodist Church in Missouri had been divided into two conferences, the East and the West, with eight districts in the West Conference and seven districts in the East Conference. The conferences later merged to form the Missouri Conference on January 1, 2003.
