Historical Note:

Thomas Hardeman (1750-1833) was born in Virginia and served in the American Revolutionary War. He emigrated to Howard County, Missouri, in 1816, and his son John Hardeman (1776-1829) joined him soon after. John had operated a store in Franklin, Tennessee, from 1802 to 1806. In Howard County, John Hardeman established a botanical garden and experimental farm called "Fruitage Farm" and "Hardeman's Garden."

John Hardeman married Lucretia Nash in Mississippi in 1805, and together they had three children: Thomas L. Hardeman (1807-), John Locke Hardeman (1809-1858), and Lucretia Nash Hardeman (1812-1851). After the death of his first wife, John married Nancy Knox in 1823. They also had three children: Leona Hardeman (1823-1905), Glen Owen Hardeman (1825-1904), and George Hardeman (1825-1828). John and his father Thomas traveled on the Santa Fe Trail, and John died in New Orleans in 1829 following a trip to Santa Fe and Mexico.

After John Hardeman's death, family friend Meredith Miles Marmaduke became his children's guardian. Later, John Locke Hardeman became guardian for his half-siblings Glen O. and Leona Hardeman. John Locke farmed near Arrow Rock, Missouri, traveled widely, and never married. John Locke Hardeman's business ventures included a cotton plantation in Mississippi, in which he enslaved a large number of individuals. He also engaged in the slave trade, purchasing enslaved individuals in Missouri and selling them for a profit further south. The Hardeman family enslaved a number of individuals on their farms in Missouri, as well. John Locke Hardeman died in 1858.

Glen O. Hardeman became a doctor and practiced in Arrow Rock, Brunswick, and Marshall, Missouri. He traveled on the Santa Fe Trail in 1849 and went to California via Panama in 1850-1851 to seek gold. In 1852, he returned to Missouri and practiced medicine until 1861. He married Permilia A. Townsend on June 1, 1853, in Cooper County, Missouri, and together they had seven children. With the Emancipation Proclamation, Hardeman freed the many individuals he enslaved, and in 1862, he accepted a commission as surgeon of the 71st Regiment in the Enrolled Militia of Missouri. After the Civil War, he moved to Gray's Summit, Franklin County, Missouri, where he farmed and practiced medicine. He was elected to represent Franklin County in the Missouri House of Representatives in 1876. Glen Hardeman died on January 14, 1905.

Scope and Content Note:

Papers Donated by Glen O. Hardeman

This series primarily contains incoming correspondence to members of the Hardeman from Willie Blount, later a three-term governor of Tennessee, and from Henry Clay. A manuscript by Seth Lewis is also included.

Hardeman Correspondence, 1804-1834

This series consists of correspondence to members of the Hardeman family from well-known figures such as Thomas Hart Benton, Seth Lewis, David Barton, M.M. Marmaduke, Henry Clay, G.C. Sibley, and John O'Fallon; letters from Thomas Hardeman to his daughter-in-law, Nancy Hardeman; a letter from John Locke Hardeman detailing the biography of Thomas Hardeman; and correspondence regarding Hardeman family genealogy.

John Hardeman Papers, 1816-1848

This series deals with John Hardeman's land and business enterprises, and includes land indentures from Tennessee and Howard County, Missouri; business receipts; a large number of bills of sale and transfer documents for enslaved persons; land deeds and property sales in Louisiana and Missouri; John Hardeman's estate papers; poetry; and a War of 1812 muster roll from the District of Ste. Genevieve, Missouri.

John Locke Hardeman Papers, 1825-1858

This small series contains the correspondence of John Locke Hardeman, land deeds, tax receipts, a large number of bills of sale for enslaved people; and the estate papers of John Locke Hardeman.

Glen O. Hardeman Papers

This series includes correspondence, documents from his trip to California in 1850; medical school papers; papers from his time as a surgeon for the Union army; financial papers, mostly pertaining to farming in Franklin County, Missouri; papers pertaining to membership in Grange No. 269, Patrons of Husbandry, Gray's Summit, Missouri; notes; postcards; clippings; and the correspondence and papers of Letcher Hardeman, son of Glen O. Hardeman.

Ledgers and Scrapbooks

This series includes materials from multiple family members and contains a mathematical exercises book from 1796; account books from John Hardeman's store in Franklin, Tennessee; an account book from the estate of John Locke Hardeman; scrapbooks kept by Glen O. Hardeman; and farm expense books, including ledgers documenting births of people enslaved by the Hardemans.

Oversize Material

This series includes three items: a plan of a garden at Fruitage Farm with a labyrinth; John Hardeman's passport from 1828; and a poster depicting the Cherokee alphabet.
