Historical Note:

Sidney A. Weltmer (1858-1930), son of Abraham (1813-1882) and Catherine Hull Weltmer (1819-1899), was born in Wooster, Ohio. In 1886, his parents moved him and his siblings Sarah (1856-1933) and John (1862-1943) to Morgan County, Missouri, where Sidney worked as a preacher and later teacher. He married Mary G. Stone (1859-1951) in 1879 with whom he had five children: Silas (1882-1956), Stella (1884-1969), Tracy (1886-1963), Ernest (1890-1963), and Beulah (1892-1976). In 1897 Sidney founded the American School of Magnetic Healing in Nevada, Missouri, where he developed a healing process using the laying-on-of-hands combined with the power of suggestion and hypnosis called "Weltmerism."

The Weltmers bought a 17-room mansion in Nevada to function as a boarding house for patients of the institute. In 1904, Weltmer's three sons--Ernest, Silas, and Tracy--began managing the school, which was renamed the Weltmer Institute for Suggestive Therapeutics in 1905. The establishment continued its existence until shortly after the death of its founder, closing in 1933. Although the physical building had shut down, sold to Milster Funeral Home, the ideas of Weltmerism persisted through the work of Sidney's youngest son Ernest as he continued producing writings on suggestive therapeutics.

Ernest married Dorothee--sometimes referred to as Dorothea--Hoffman (1881-1960) in 1912, with whom he had two children Sidney Pierre (1916-2004) and Dorothea Denyse (1918-2005). They lived in Nevada before moving to Boise, Idaho, in 1940. "Denyse" later married Warren Detloff (1914-1996, m. 1943) and moved to California where they raised their daughter Caryn (1948-). "Pierre" (1916-2004) married Ruth Miller (1916-2020) in 1941, returning to Nevada. Ernest remained in Boise until the death of his wife in late 1959, after which he began living in Nevada with his son. He died in 1963.
