Historical Note:

Orland Kay Armstrong was born on October 2, 1893, in Willow Springs, Missouri, to William Calvin Armstrong and Ternitia Agnes Brockus Armstrong. He received a bachelor's and master's degree in journalism from the University of Missouri in 1925. After graduation, Armstrong moved to Florida where he helped establish a journalism school at the University of Florida-Gainesville. By the late 1920s, Armstrong returned to Springfield, Missouri, working part-time at Drury College and pursuing a career in freelance journalism.

Armstrong wrote for a variety of publications over the years, including American Legion Monthly, the Saturday Evening Post, the Christian Herald, and several Baptist publications. He was also a member of the Reader's Digest editorial staff for more than three decades.

Armstrong was interested in politics and ran for several offices as a Republican. He served three terms as a representative in the Missouri State legislature (1932-1936 and 1942-1944) and was a U.S. representative from Missouri from 1951-1953. In 1944, Armstrong ran unsuccessfully as the Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor of Missouri. He made his last bid for the Missouri House in 1982, but was defeated.

In addition, Armstrong was the author and co-author of several books, including Old Massa's People: The Old Slaves Tell Their Story (1931), 15 Decisive Battles of the United States (1961), Religion Can Conquer Communism (1964), and The Indomitable Baptists: A Narrative of Their Role in Shaping American History (1967).

In 1922, Armstrong married Louise McCool. They had four sons and a daughter together: Milton, Orland Kay, Jr., Louise, Stanley, and Charles Lindbergh. After the death of his wife in 1947, Armstrong remarried to Marjorie Moore in 1949. Both of his wives collaborated with Armstrong in his writing and journalistic work. Armstrong died on April 15, 1987, at his home in Republic, Missouri.

Arrangement:

The papers have been arranged into the following eleven series:

Subject Files
Articles and Projects
Political
Organizations
Correspondence
Speaking Engagements
Publications and Manuscripts
Personal
Family
Audiovisual
Oversize

Please note that this collection has been minimally processed and has not been heavily indexed.

Scope and Content Note:*Subject Files

This series contains material pertaining to Armstrong's writings and activism. The material includes manuscripts and drafts of articles and books, as well as correspondence, notes, research material, and miscellaneous publications and ephemera. Of particular note is the Child Welfare material, which contains family case files pertaining to Armstrong's work as the chairman of the American Legion's Child Welfare Committee in Missouri. The case files detail the conditions of ex-servicemen and their families, providing both genealogical information and information on poverty in Missouri during the 1930s. Some of the case files are arranged by dates; others are arranged alphabetically by family name.

Articles and Projects

This series consists of correspondence, drafts, and research material, as well as some photographs, for articles and projects worked on by Armstrong. Many of the articles in this series were collaborations with politicians and other writers.

Political

This series contains material concerning Armstrong's three terms in the Missouri State Legislature, as well as his one term as a U.S. Congressman.

Organizations

This series contains materials concerning civic and religious organizations to which Armstrong belonged or was involved with, particularly the American Legion. Materials concerning Armstrong's work on the American Legion's Child Welfare Committee are housed in the Subject Files series.

Correspondence

This series includes both professional and personal correspondence of a general nature. Correspondence pertaining to particular subjects, projects, and Armstrong's political career can be found within those series, respectively.

Speaking Engagements

This series contains materials related to speeches and other talks given by Armstrong, including itineraries, correspondence, event programs, and speech drafts and material.

Publications and Manuscripts

This series consists of published articles and books Armstrong either wrote or to which he contributed chapters. It also includes manuscripts and drafts of work by Armstrong as well as other authors with which he collaborated or who sent work for him to review. Some material is of unknown authorship.

Personal

This series contains news clippings, photographs, programs for events attended by Armstrong, and miscellaneous material. Of particular note is a narrative account Armstrong wrote while staying at the Sheppard-Pratt Hospital in Maryland after suffering a nervous breakdown in 1954 due to a tax issue with the IRS.

Family

This series is largely comprised of material relating to Armstrong's wives and his children and includes correspondence, article drafts by Louise McCool Armstrong and Marjorie Moore Armstrong, and two books written by his daughter, Louise Armstrong Cattan.

Audiovisual

This series contains two audio recordings pertaining to Baptists and a film strip produced by Citizens for Decent Literature.

Oversize

This series contains a campaign poster, political cartoons, and photographs.
