INTRODUCTION

The records of Radio Homemakers contain transcripts of interviews with women who worked as radio homemakers from the 1940s through 1980s. Radio homemakers broadcast on rural, Midwestern radio stations and offered information and advice on domestic affairs such as cooking, sewing, and child rearing. Also includes paper presented to 1992 Popular Culture Convention based on interviews.

DONOR INFORMATION

The records were donated to the University of Missouri by Lee Jolliffe on 30 January 2004 (Accession No. 6020).
