BIOGRAPHY:

Berenice Swinney Scarritt Royster (1875-1972) was born in Glasgow, Missouri and was the daughter of Edward Lucky Scarritt of Kansas City, Mo. and Mary Anne Swinney of Glasgow, Mo. Following her mother's death in 1876 of typhoid fever, Berenice lived with her grandparents, the Rev. James Oswald and Maria Savage Swinney, in Glasgow until 1882. She went to live with her father and his second wife, the former Margaret Morris, in Kansas City in 1882 following court battles that returned Berenice's custody to her father. Until she was grown, Berenice was not permitted to have contact with the Swinneys. In 1897, she married William Edgar Royster in the Swinneys' home when her parents objected to the marriage. Her grandfather helped perform the ceremony. Berenice and William had eight children, six of whom lived to adulthood.

Edward Lucky Scarritt (1853-1933) was a lawyer in Kansas City and was also involved in various city and business interests. Edward was born in Kansas City and was the son of Nathan Scarritt, a civic leader, minister and real estate investor in the mid and late nineteenth century, and Martha Matilda Chick Scarritt, daughter of William Chick, an early settler and first postmaster of Kansas City. Edward was elected as a Circuit Court Judge in the 1890's for one term but did not run for re-election. He continued to practice law.

James Oswald Swinney (1827-1899) was the son of William D. and Lucy Jones Swinney. Oswald married Maria Savage (1832-1899) in 1852. They had two children, Mary Anne, who married Edward Lucky Scarritt, and William, who died as a child of scarlet fever.

- Mary Matilda (Mame) and Evangeline were daughters of Annie Scarritt Hendrix, sister of Edward Lucky Scarritt. Mame married Mastin Simpson, a relative of Maggie Morris Scarritt. Evangeline's daughter, Tot, also corresponded with Berenice. Evangeline's usage of "s---t" may stand for "Sweatheart" or "Shoat", both referred to in letters. Berenice said that she was known as "Shoatie" by the Scarritt family after she was brought as a baby to visit the Scarritts in Kansas City. Will Scarritt said, "She looks like a little chote to me," (which is a baby pig. This was from "The House of Many Cobwebs" by Berenice Royster.)
