Historical Note:

The Elevenpoint River Association of Missionary Baptists was organized in 1889. It included sixteen churches representing several hundred members. Churches in Oregon County predominated, but there were also some from Carter and Ripley counties, and one from Howell County. The largest congregations were those at Alton and Myrtle in Oregon County. By the time of its thirteenth annual session in 1901, the association had been renamed as the Eleven Points River Baptist Association. Twenty churches were on the rolls.

Arrangement:

The collection has been arranged in its original order.

Scope and Content Note:

The proceedings of the annual sessions of the association include minutes of meetings, committee reports, assignments of delegates to annual sessions of neighboring associations, and statistical information for constituent churches of the Eleven Points River Association.
