Historical Note:

Located in the southwestern corner of Missouri, McDonald County was organized in 1849, and named for the American Revolutionary War soldier, Sergeant Alexander McDonald. The county seat is Pineville, Missouri. The McDonald County R-1 School District was created with the consolidation of the Anderson and Pineville schools. The first class to graduate from this consolidated school district was the class of 1966. The Noel school district, Rocky Comfort, and Southwest City were later included in the consolidation.

Arrangement:

The collection has been arranged in one folder.
