PROVENANCE

Donald Fahey of Webster Groves, Missouri donated two volumes of legal records of the Gaylord Container Corporation to the State Historical Society of Missouri on December 10, 1996.

HISTORY

In 1937, the Bogalusa Paper Company, Inc. merged with Robert Gaylord Incorporated to form the Gaylord Container Corporation. During its eighteen-year existence, the Gaylord Container Corporation manufactured large boxes to contain bulk goods on pallets. The Gaylord Container Corporation remained in business until 1955 when Crown Zellerbach acquired it and renamed the company as the "Gaylord Container Division."

SCOPE AND CONTENT

The records contain a two-volume set of ledgers for the Gaylord Container Corporation during its first two years in business from 1937 to 1939.
